

LAWSON FURNISHES NAMES AT HEARING

States Congressman Henry Told Him of Men In Gambling Pool

NAMES SEC. M'ADOO

Asserts the Head of Federal Reserve Board Knew of "Leak" Machinery

HENRY DENIES CHARGES

Washington, Jan. 15.—Thomas W. Lawson hailed before the house rules committee to tell what he knew of had heard about a stock market leak on President Wilson's peace note and he punished calmly declared today that the mysterious congressman who told him a cabinet officer, a senator and a banker were engaged in a stock gambling pool, was none other than Representative Henry, chairman of the committee.

Names M'Adoo as Cabinet Officer. Then, before his hearers had time to recover from the shock, Lawson sprung one sensation after the other by declaring that the cabinet officer referred to was Secretary McAdoo; that the banker was H. Pliny Fiske of New York and that he knew the senator only by the initial "O". To complete the explosion, Lawson went on to charge that Paul M. Warburg of the federal reserve board had knowledge of the "leak" machinery, rumored a rumor that Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador had made two millions in the stock market, and to mention a list of well known men whom he thought should be questioned. The committee promptly issued subpoenas for all of them.

Mr. Lawson said he had been told that Malcolm McAdoo, the secretary's brother, knew of the leak as did C. D. Barney and company, and Stewart G. Gibboney of New York. A Mrs. Ruth Thomason Visconti of this city, he said, had declared to him in the presence of her attorney that Secretary Tumulty "received his bit" and that "W. W. Price," one of the white house correspondents was a go-between for Tumulty and the others.

White Furnished Information. H. Pliny Fiske, Lawson said was the banker he referred to previously as dominating a cabinet officer and Archibald S. White, he said had given him this information.

Representative Henry was said by Lawson to have told him, at the conference that preceded the opening of the leak investigation of reports, connecting the cabinet officer, banker and senator and also had told him of reports that Secretary Lansing had been seen conferring with Bernard Baruch the Wall street operator said to have made a clean up on the falling market which accompanied the peace note.

Lawson declared Henry had asked him on patriotic grounds not to press his charges. At no time, the Boston financier testified, did he ever say he had direct information.

Henry Denies Lawson's Charges. When Lawson had finished his recital Chairman Henry took the stand and swore that at no time had he mentioned to Lawson the names the financier brought out on the witness stand, that he had no information then and had none now of his own knowledge; and denied generally and completely all of Lawson's testimony relating to him.

When he had concluded Lawson arose and solemnly declared that every word he had uttered on the stand "was the truth, so help me God, without variation." He went back to Lawson said that immediately after leaving Henry at his first conference he laid his information before John O'Hara Cosgrave, Sunday editor of the New York World, Erman J. Ridgeway, president of Everybody's Magazine and Donald McDonald, publisher of a Boston financial paper.

Demand Committee Call Men. "Call these men," he demanded, "and they will bear me out in what I say."

Almost in tears at Henry's absolute denial of his statements, Lawson shouted: "I'll make good here, and I won't go to jail as the goat."

Secretaries McAdoo and Tumulty and Mr. Price at once issued statements denying Lawson's references to them. The committee promptly ordered subpoenas for Ridgeway, Cosgrave, Warburg, Fiske, Price, White, Malcolm McAdoo, Gibboney, Barney and company, Mrs. Visconti and John R. Rathom editor of the Providence Journal who published some articles about "leaks." Secretaries McAdoo and Tumulty will appear without subpoena.

With that the committee adjourned until tomorrow morning. Today's sensational proceedings disposed of the elaborate preparations for holding Lawson in contempt of the house for his defiance of the committee at the previous hearing.

Great Crowd Packs Room. A great crowd was packed into the room when Lawson arrived. Police cleared entrance for him.

With a set of fourteen questions before him prepared by Representative Lenroot, Chairman Henry began

DISSOLVE MEXICAN AMERICAN COMMISSION

Mexicans Informed Further Discussions are Impracticable

U. S. Members Also State They Had Recommended Sending of Ambassador to Mexico and the Withdrawal of General Pershing's Force.

New York, Jan. 15.—The Mexican-American joint commission which failed to effect an adjustment of the question at issue between Mexico and the United States after a series of conferences that began four months ago, was formally dissolved late today.

Recommend Withdrawal. Secretary of Interior Lane and the other members of the American commission, Dr. J. R. Mott and Judge George Grey, told the Mexicans they had recommended to President Wilson the dispatch to Mexico of Ambassador Fletcher and the withdrawal of American troops from Chihuahua.

The Americans impressed upon the Mexicans that with the dissolution of the commission the Mexican problem reverted to President Wilson. They were careful not to leave in the minds of the Mexicans the conviction that President Wilson would accept the recommendation that an accredited diplomat be sent to Mexico and that General Pershing's force be withdrawn but the intimation that he would do so was conveyed.

In spite of the American's care, however, the Mexicans had little doubt tonight that full diplomatic relations between the two governments soon would be re-established and that unless unexpected complications arise American troops would be removed from Mexican territory within a few days.

To Return to Mexico. Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican commission and Ignacio Bonillas and Alberto J. Pani the other members said they expected to leave within a week or ten days for Mexico. Mr. Cabrera and Mr. Bonillas will resume their places as members of General Carranza's cabinet and Mr. Pani as director general of the government railroads. Notwithstanding the dissolution of the commission they expressed themselves as pleased with the result of the American withdrawal of troops, the main object of Carranza in sending them here, would be accomplished.

The American commissioners explained to the Mexican commissioners that they regarded further discussion by them of international questions impracticable.

The Mexicans expressed regret that the conference had been brought to an end but they too admitted that further discussion appeared useless and no effort to have them prolonged was made.

It was intimated to the Mexicans that when General Pershing's troops are taken out of Mexico it would be when it appeared evident that bandits were not menacing the northern border of Chihuahua.

Do Not Regard Work a Failure. The American commissioners declared they did not regard the work of the commission a failure since conditions affecting both governments had been reached.

The creation of an international court of claims for the adjudication of property losses incurred since the revolution against Porfirio Diaz the protection of life and property of foreigners and the means for better conditions along the border, especially in preventing the fostering on the American side of revolutionary methods were subjects discussed today.

Secretary Lane left tonight for Washington, where it is expected he will take to the president a report of the last meeting of the commission.

COURT INTERPRETS MANN WHITE SLAVE LAW

Affirms Convictions of Caminetti, Diggs and Hayes

Supreme Court Holds Law Prohibits Interstate Transportation of Women for Any Immoral Purpose, Including Private Escapes.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The federal white slave law was construed by the supreme court today to prohibit interstate transportation of women for any immoral purpose, including private escapes as well as commercialized vice.

In three test cases the court in a divided opinion affirmed convictions of E. Drew Caminetti and Maury I. Diggs, of Sacramento, Cal., and L. T. Hayes of Alva, Okla.

Their imprisonment and fines will become effective within thirty days. The court decided five to three in broadly interpreting the law, enacted in 1910.

Chief Justice White and Justices McKenna and Clark in a minority opinion held that congress intended to have the law apply only to actual "traffic" in women and not to personal immoralities. Justice McReynolds, who was attorney general during prosecution of Caminetti and Diggs, took no part in the cases.

The majority opinion, given by Justice Day, held that while congress may have intended the law to prohibit only traffic in women for pecuniary gain, its plain terms include interdiction of their transportation "for any other immoral purpose."

If it was not so intended the majority said it was congress' function—not the court's—to amend the law. Wider scope in enforcing the law, now is open to the department of justice which contended for the broader interpretation. The ruling affects many pending cases, including that of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, who is a fugitive from justice.

In the test cases, Caminetti was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment and fined $1500; Diggs to two years and a $2,000 fine and Hayes to 18 months in prison. These sentences will go into operation when the court's mandate is issued, under the rules within thirty days unless earlier action is requested by the department and assented to by the court.

WAR NEWS SUMMARIZED

The Russian offensive in the Riga region of Russia, having abated in Roumania continues to be the only theater where vigorous operations are in progress, although there are indications of the possibility of another big battle on the Macedonian front in the near future. These have been engagements in Mesopotamia in the vicinity of Kut-el-Amara with both the Turks and the British claiming the advantage. The other fronts bombardments and encounters of small parties continue.

The Teutonic allies are now in full retreat of Vadeni, six miles southwest of Galatz, Roumania, and Galatz is under the fire of the Bulgarian artillery from the right bank of the Danube. After the occupation of Vadeni, which was the last town forced back the invaders by the Russians and Roumanians the Russians made a vigorous attack in an attempt to dislodge them. The Turks however put down the attack, according to Berlin, which also reports the repulse of Russian offensive near Funduti, on the lower Sereth and between the Kasino and Sutchitza rivers, near the Moldavian frontier.

Petrograd takes issue with the German report as regards Kasino river sector, saying the Roumanians have forced back the invaders and that heavy casualties also were inflicted on them in attacks northeast of Fokshani.

To the east along the Doiran front the British have raided the village of Akjial and also bombarded the town of Neochard from both land and sea.

According to the London war office, the right bank of the Tigris river, except for a small region, Kut-el-Amara has been cleared of Ottoman troops.

PERKINS STATES ACTION FAILS TO HEAL BREACH

Asserts Split Between G. O. P. and Progressives Wide as Ever

Statement Follows Announcement That G. O. P. Executive Committee Had Named J. T. Adams Vice-Chairman—Perkins and Colby Fail To Attend Dinner.

New York, Jan. 15.—The alliance formed between Republicans and Progressives in the recent presidential campaign apparently was threatened with disruption tonight after the announcement that the executive committee of the Republican National committee in session here today had selected John Taylor, Adams, of Iowa, to be vice-chairman.

Mr. Adams was named against the wishes of Chairman William R. Wilcox and a few others on the committee, it was said. His appointment was promptly interpreted by Progressive party leaders as the return to power of the so-called "old guard" wing in the Republican party.

A resolution intended, it was said, to bring Republicans and Progressives into closer harmony was passed by the committee and later Geo. W. Perkins and Everett Colby, Progressive party leaders, announced they had withdrawn their acceptances to a dinner Chairman Wilcox gave to the committee. This was due, they asserted to the action of the executive committee over the protest of Chairman Wilcox.

In a signed statement Mr. Perkins and Mr. Colby declared the action of the executive committee was a "deliberate and wilful reflection upon every Progressive voter in the country." They asserted that the split between the Republican and Progressive parties was as wide as ever.

When he learned of the statement issued by Mr. Perkins and Mr. Colby, Chairman Wilcox first said he would not discuss it, then afterward he stated that he regretted they had not attended the dinner as it was "strictly social, and had no political significance."

Herbert Parsons, Republican national committeeman from New York, who attended the dinner said it was a "party" Mr. Perkins and Mr. Colby took such an "extreme attitude."

DECIDES BROWER MUST RETURN TO NEW YORK

Attorney Admits Identification of Client

Judge Prefaces Ruling with Comment That "the Thaw Case Had Left a Trail of Shame and Philadelphia Wanted Little of It."

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—Judge J. M. Patterson in common pleas court decided today that Oliver A. Brower, charged with conspiracy to kidnap Frederick Gump of Kansas City, who accused Harry K. Thaw of whipping him, must be returned to New York. Brower will be taken to New York tonight.

Henry J. Scott, Brower's attorney enumerated several reasons why his client should not be released, but Judge Patterson ruled that the question of identification was the only point in the case which the local courts were concerned, whereupon Scott quickly ended the proceedings by admitting that Brower was the man named in the indictment.

Assistant District Attorney Black of New York contended that it was the intention of Thaw and Brower to prevent Gump from testifying to the alleged attack by Thaw in a New York Hotel on Christmas Day.

Judge Patterson prefaced his ruling with the comment that the "Thaw case had left a trail of shame and that Philadelphia wanted little of it."

Mr. Black argued that copies of telegrams under date of January 6, which Thaw is said to have sent to Long Beach, Cal., inquiring about the whereabouts of the Gump boy, and of the "dear master" letter which Thaw is alleged to have dictated to Gump forcing him to describe the effects of flogging, were found on Brower at the time of his arrest here and were conclusive evidence of the alleged conspiracy.

Thaw's mother who is staying at the hospital where he is recovering from an attempt at suicide was at her son's bedside for nearly four hours today, comforting him and consoling him. Thaw has an array of attorneys here from New York and Pittsburgh and officials regard this mobilization of legal talent as the preliminary to a serious effort to keep him within the jurisdiction of Pennsylvania courts.

ENTENTE NOTE BARS PEACE FOR PRESENT

German Foreign Minister Expresses Opinion to Associated Press

DOOR NOT CLOSED

Dr. Zimmerman States Reply Does Not Completely Close Door To Later Efforts

CAN DO NOTHING MORE

BERLIN, Sunday, Jan. 14.—By Wireless to The Associated Press via Sayville.—Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, the German foreign minister informed The Associated Press today that in his opinion, the entente reply to President Wilson's peace note bars the possibility for the present of further German steps to bring about peace. In particular, he said, it precluded any direct announcement by Germany of her peace conditions, in answer to the terms set forth in the latest entente note.

Does Not Finally Close Door. Dr. Zimmermann asserted, however, that the answer of the entente to the president did not finally and completely close the door to later efforts for peace, before one side or the other was completely crushed.

The foreign minister, in the course of a conversation with The Associated Press correspondent last night declared, with obvious reluctance, that it was impossible for him to give a more definite statement of the peace program of the Central Powers than indicated in the declarations of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the chancellor, because the German terms were such that the unsolicited promulgation of them in their moderate details, after what he characterized as the aspiring program of conquest and dismemberment outlined by the entente would be interpreted by the entente powers as a sign of weakness and of a desire for peace at any cost.

Publication of the peace terms of the Central Powers therefore would defeat its every purpose said Dr. Zimmermann.

Excludes Possibility of Peace

The foreign minister said that President Wilson could not take any further action for the present, adding that the entente answer excluded, for the present any possibility of peace.

Dr. Zimmermann intimated that a failure of the entente's offensive this year, which he expected, might again make it possible to approach the subject of peace on reasonable terms and with some prospect of success.

"Now that the allies have to a certain extent outlined their plans," said the correspondent, "do you think there is any possibility of Germany declaring in some form or other its program for a peace settlement?"

"No," replied the minister, after an instant's reflection. "I think we can do nothing more. We cannot afford to give the impression that we are chasing after a peace at all costs. After the entente allies have put out this highly ambitious program an announcement of the German terms of peace would by contrast be interpreted by our adversaries as an indication of weakness and would be used by them to encourage their people to fight on. Our people would not understand any further effort by us for the introduction of peace after the entente's declaration. We have to consider public opinion here."

Advantages Not Sufficient. Dr. Zimmermann said he could not obviously see the advantages from one point of view in declaring Germany's terms and letting the world see by contrast with those to which the entente powers have committed themselves the real state of affairs, but he was not convinced that such advantages were not sufficient to affect the attitude of the entente, powers or enough to outweigh the effect on opinion in enemy countries of the announcement of the terms regarding Belgium and the others in this war.

To the question as to whether he saw the possibilities of Germany making a declaration of her position the minister replied critically.

Proposes Change for Congress.
The proposal for each congress to have three regular sessions is embodied in a bill which has recently been introduced in the lower house. According to this bill the regular sessions of a new congress will convene on the first Monday after the fourth of March succeeding a congressional election, the second on the first Monday of the following October and the third on the first Monday of December in the next year. Under present plans congress does not meet until thirteen months after the election at which its members are chosen and the bill has been introduced with the idea of cutting down this space of months, which certainly is too long.

Capt. Smith's Sudden Summons
The going of Capt. Smith removes a conspicuous figure from Jacksonville. He had the unique distinction of enlisting as a mere boy in the war of the rebellion and thru conspicuous bravery quickly winning his way to lieutenantancy and the captaincy. Following the days of the war he engaged in business successfully and acquired a competency.

Capt. Smith was never happier than in talking over war times, and tho he took such a keen interest in present day affairs, he lived largely in the past. To him the victories and defeats of the great war of the rebellion were but as yesterday, and he was thoroughly informed in the history of the conflict. Capt. Smith was an intense partisan in some lines yet was fair minded and generous hearted. Those who knew him best appreciated the fairness of his nature. They and a larger circle knew the intense loyalty of the man to his country, his friends and his ideals. Jacksonville has lost a forceful and valuable citizen in the tragic death of Capt. Alexander Smith—soldier, patriot and business man.

Republicans Should Nominate Strong Candidate

Republicans of this judicial district should use special wisdom in nominating a candidate to come before the people at the special election March 3. Thus far the county committees have not met and no effort has been made for endorsement. In some years gone by this district was accounted as so strongly Democratic that a Republican nominee would have no chance.

Conditions have changed with the passing years and it is not by any means now a "foregone conclusion" that whoever the Democratic nominee happens to be will be elected judge. There is no need to emphasize the importance of the work of the judicial bench nor how much work is continually piling up for judicial action in the district, but suffice it to say that a clean, high class, able nominee should be chosen.

Better Fire Protection

The matter of insurance rates brought before the city council Monday morning thru a letter from the Illinois Inspection bureau touches upon a serious condition. A report was made on local conditions about two years ago and certain changes were recommended if Jacksonville citizens expected to continue the rates of insurance in force. A part of the recommendation of the fire department was advocated and thus far the city has been unable to secure the necessary funds. The council let a contract last year for motor driven engine, subject to the passage of the bond issue, and when this was defeated it was not possible to make the purchase. Just how the improvement is to be accomplished is a question that the city council with the aid of the people must decide, but there must be some improvement in fire fighting equipment.

To have our insurance rates changed would be a distinct disadvantage to the city, aside from the added expense that would be collected from business men and property owners. A city with a high insurance rate will never attract any new enterprise.

Johnson's Exceptional Record

The alleged attempt on the life of Gov. Wm. Johnson of California, now senator elect from that state, has brought this prominent American into still further prominence. The career of Gov. Johnson has been notable indeed, and in ten years time he has risen from comparative obscurity to his present proud position as the senator from the Golden state, with a popular majority of 23,806 votes. Gov. Johnson was won his way to political preferment by the fight he made against the Southern Pacific railroad, which had for years dominated California politics, and completely controlled the state legislature. He has been a political reformer of a kind who has not ridden into office on the advocacy of reform measures, and then proceeded to forget all about the reforms and fall into the methods of the interests which he had been fighting.

Gov. Johnson has been consistent all along and has made it very apparent to the people of California that he had not only the earnest desire but the ability to give to the state laws for the protection of the people and to secure them in their rights just as he had promised in his primary campaigns. Progressive legislation along a great many lines has been a part of his program and that he and his political sympathizers control affairs in California is forcibly shown by the vote recorded for him. Progressive thinkers and leaders in the Republican party are expecting that his course in the senate will be one of force and usefulness to the country at large and the record of the man fully justifies this expectation.

Facts on Education.

There were 23,500,000 persons attending schools of some kind in the United States in 1916, according to estimates of the United States Bureau of Education. This means that approximately 24 per cent of the inhabitants of the United States are attending school, as compared with 19 per cent in Great Britain, 17 per cent in France, 20 per cent in Germany and a little over 4 per cent in Russia. The Bureau points out however, that the result is much less favorable to the United States if daily attendance, rather than enrollment is taken as the basis for comparison since some of the other nations have better attendance and a longer school term than the United States.

Teaching these 23,500,000 persons were 795,000 teachers, 159,000 men and 537,000 women. The number of men teachers has increased slightly since 1900; the number of women teachers has almost doubled. In 1900 teaching positions in high schools were evenly divided between men and women. At the present women outnumber the men by 8000. The average annual salary of all teachers is $525. The figure is the highest in the East and North Atlantic states, with $639 and $696, respectively, and the East and North Atlantic states, $329. It varies from $234 in Mississippi to $871 in California and $941 in New York.

Plans of League to Enforce Peace

Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent published in New York City has written the following very clear statement in answer to some of the critics of the plans of the League to Enforce Peace. "When a movement as vital as the League to Enforce Peace is seen to be sweeping over the country, it is to be expected that doubters, objectors and maligners will arise."

But would it not be a good plan if the League's opponents, before becoming vocal or rushing into print, should read the twenty-two words in the League's preamble, the one hundred and sixty-four words contained in its four proposals, and the sixty-five words added as the official interpretation of Article III.

Thus in the Senate last week no less a statesman than Senator Borah was moved to say:

"Suppose the United States and Argentina and some of the nations of Europe enter into a League to Enforce Peace, and let us suppose that Argentina and one of the governments of Europe disagree in one of their disputes and Argentina refuses to submit her dispute to an international tribunal or to a council of conciliation. Under the doctrine of the League to Enforce Peace we would not only have agreed that the European nations could come here and get in war with Argentina, but if we were called upon we would have to join with our army and navy to enforce the matter against Argentina."

This, of course, is a misstatement of the League's position. Article III of the platform as interpreted by the executive committee reads as follows:

"The signatory powers shall jointly use forthwith their economic forces against any of their number that refuses to submit any question which arises to an international judicial tribunal or council of conciliation before using an ultimatum or threatening war. They shall follow this by the joint use of their military forces against that nation if it actually proceed to make war or invade another's territory."

It follows, therefore, that if Argentina refuses to refer her dispute with a European power to an international tribunal or council of conciliation, the other members of the League will not make war, but "forthwith use their economic forces" against her. Indeed, they will not proceed against Argentina at all with their military forces unless Argentina actually makes war on the European power. Of course if she submits her case to a court of council and then is dissatisfied with the decision or recommendation she can then make war without any resistance whatsoever by the League.

A more flagrant misstatement of the position of the League to Enforce Peace is made by Mr. Roosevelt in his diatribe against the League in the February Metropolitan Magazine. Says he:

"The proposals of this league vary somewhat from time to time; but in their essence they are that nations shall arbitrate all questions and that they shall agree to enforce the decrees of the arbitral court by war. In the first place, the league's proposals have not been changed one iota since their adoption at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, June 17, 1915. In the second place, there is no proposal whatsoever 'to enforce the decrees of the arbitral court by war.' The proposal is not even to enforce a reference to the Court of Council of Conciliation by war. The only time that force can be invoked by the League is when the League proceeds against a nation that goes to war without first submitting its case to a Court or Council of Conciliation."

The League to enforce peace enforces peace. It does not enforce a judgment. It is an American Statesman unwilling to have the United States go that far?

Very truly yours
Hamilton Holt,
Vice-Chairman of the Executive Committee of the League to Enforce Peace.

HUGH WILSON RETIRES FROM EASTERN FIRM

Former Jacksonville Man Has Made Great Success in Publishing Business—Will Devote Time to Private Interests.

The Engineering Record, one of the most important publications of the kind in America, in the issue of the week of January 13, has an extended article about the retirement of Hugh N. Wilson as vice president of the McGraw Publishing company. A picture of Mr. Wilson accompanies the article. Mr. Wilson, who is the elder brother of William T. Wilson of this city, began his newspaper work as city editor of the Jacksonville Journal. The article mentions this fact and traces his subsequent career. Mr. Wilson after leaving Jacksonville was reporter on the Minneapolis Evening Star and in 1889 entered upon his real life work, the development of trade journals.

In the year mentioned he became a member of the staff of the Mississippi Valley Lumberman, and to quote the Engineering Record: "With but one brief interruption since, he has devoted his great energy and abilities to the one object of upbuilding journals directed in trade and technical lines. His progress with the Lumberman was rapid but he soon changed his desk for another one, this one in the office of the Northwestern Railroad, a paper which was later consolidated with the Railway Age and Mr. Wilson was made secretary-treasurer of the new organization. His tireless energy, vision and editorial grasp were never better displayed than by the publication during the international railway congress at Washington in 1905 of a daily edition of the Railway Age, which was designated as the official journal of the congress. Supplementing this practice was upon him by both the American and foreign delegates, he was created a chevalier of the Order of Leopold by the king of the Belgians."

In 1906 the Wilson company, with Mr. Wilson as the controlling owner was organized, taking over the publication of the Railway Age and the Electric Railway Review which had just been purchased and which was changed shortly from a monthly to a weekly publication. Some other changes followed and six years ago Mr. Wilson became vice president of the McGraw Publishing company. During that period the organization has grown constantly to greater strength. Two new papers, "Electrical Merchandising" and "The Contractor" had been purchased. "Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering" has been changed from a monthly to a semi-monthly publication and other properties, "Electrical World," "Electrical Railway Journal" and notably the "Engineering Record" have made rapid progress. Mr. Wilson retires now to devote himself to his personal interests.

Charles Maynard Will Wed Miss Veva Crim.

At a charming evening party given Monday by Miss Nan Crim, 306 West College street, the approaching marriage of Mr. Charles M. Maynard and Miss Veva Crim, was announced. Close friends of Miss Crim were the guests and they found amusement in music and clever games. It was just before the serving of a two-course luncheon that the arrival of a telegram brought the news and gave the date, "Thursday, Feb. 8." The congratulations Miss Crim received were many and sincere as she is a young woman held in high esteem, well worthy of all the good wishes which friends on every hand will tender. The telegram was from "Dan Cupid" and when opened was found to contain the message, phrased in rhyme, composed by one of the assistant hostesses.

In the games the awards went to Miss Edith Taylor, who was present from Waverly to attend the party, and to Miss Georgie Melton. Miss Lana McDaniel and Miss Louise Gayette helped receive the guests.

Mr. Maynard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Maynard and was reared in Mt. Vernon, Mo. On coming to Jacksonville he had employment with the International Correspondence school. For more than a year he has been an engineer in the plant of the Jacksonville Railway and Light Co. and is an efficient workman and a young man of genial manner and integrity of purpose.

PATRIOTISM OF GENERAL TSAI AO COMMEMORATED

Scrolls Sent By Three of the Late Yuan Shi-Kai's Sons—Dutch Navy Begins Experiments in Use of Home-Mined Coal—Other Correspondence.

Shanghai, Dec.—Scrolls sent by three of the late Yuan Shi-Kai's sons to commemorate the patriotism of General Tsai Ao were the most unusual feature of the funeral services for the revolutionary leader conducted here upon the arrival of his body from Japan.

General Tsai Ao was the chief mover in the Yunnan revolution, which defeated Yuan Shi-Kai's ambition to become emperor. Yuan Shi-Kai, the oldest son of Yuan Shi-Kai, was especially ambitious for his father to become emperor that he might succeed to the throne. But practically all the younger sons were opposed to the monarchical government.

The scroll sent to Shanghai by Yuan Shi-Kai, the second son of Yuan Shi-Kai commends the lamented General Tsai Ao in the highest terms. It said:

"You were a model of the people.
"You were a model of the army.
"You were the soul of the Republic."

"You were the spirit of liberty."

The American navy took a prominent part in the Tsai Ao funeral service. The Brooklyn and the other American warships in the Shanghai harbor had their flags at half-mast as the Chinese warships bearing the body came into port, and a detachment of fifty American marines marched in the funeral procession. Thirty Japanese, mostly personal friends and admirers of the late patriot also participated in the procession.

The entire Chinese community in Shanghai was in mourning, and thousands of young Chinese, mostly students of the various schools and colleges in Shanghai, were in the procession. The body of General Tsai Ao will be taken to his native province of Hunan for burial.

Amsterdam, Netherlands, Jan.—The Dutch navy has begun experiments in the use of home-mined coal which has hitherto been regarded as unsuitable for bunker purposes. The coal is mined in the province of Limburg, where the fields have been greatly developed since the war began, and it will be made in the form of bricks for navy use. The sale of home-mined coal in Holland has risen from 552,000 tons in 1912 to 2,002,000 tons in 1915.

Paris, Dec.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The only Frenchman who of late years had kept alive on the Boulevards of Paris some of the traditions of the epoch of d'Artagnan and Cyrano de Bergerac, Rouziet-Dorieres, is one of the war's latest victims. "The Last Musketeer," as he was often called, had participated in more duels than any man of his time and perhaps he held the world's record. He fought for his own account more than a score of times and directed as second more than a hundred encounters.

Like both d'Artagnan and Cyrano de Bergerac, he had the quick blood of the South of France in his veins and was romantic in speech and act. His wide brimmed felt hat, his shining black boots and aggressive bristling moustache and imperial were familiar to every one of whom he had at some time or other resounded with his discourses, controversies or proclamations. He was one of the figures of Paris that were pointed out to visiting provincials.

He was not himself a particularly expert man with a sword, but his impetuosity often made up for lack of skill and overwhelmed his adversary at the outset.

At the outbreak of the war he enlisted as a machine gunner in the aviation corps and contracted in the service the illness from which he died.

SHOWS BERKMAN FEARS ARREST

Attorney Heading Defense of Mooney Examines Batch of Letters

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 15.—Alexander Berkman, anarchist editor of a San Francisco publication, The Blast, feared arrest as the result of the preparedness parade bomb explosion here last July which cost ten lives according to one of his letters which was among a batch examined today by Attorney W. Burke Cockran, heading the defense of Thomas J. Mooney, labor organizer on trial here for murder as one of five alleged conspirators responsible for the explosion. An excerpt of Berkman's letter which was written August 15, 1916, on "The Blast" stationery and signed by him follows:

"The reaction is rampant in San Francisco. The enemy is determined to have another Nov. 11 in this city. We may be arrested at any moment but The Blast must be kept at all costs."

Nov. 11 was the date of the execution of five men in Chicago as the result of the Haymarket riots.

One letter on "The Blast" stationery which was signed by "the blast" said that "one department of the paper must be devoted to a column against preparedness and militarism."

Another letter was signed by "E. B. Morton," alleged to be by Cunha to be an anarchist. It was addressed to Mooney and Edward Nolan, a co-defendant. In it Morton suggested starting a paper devoted to labor from the revolutionary standpoint, and suggested Mooney as the San Francisco manager.

It contained one sentence which read: "We must get the Reds together for action."

to question Lawson. When he had completed his first question, demanding the name of the congressman whom Lawson said told him of a cabinet officer, a member of congress and a banker reported to have been connected with the "leak" and, also their names, Lawson rose and said he desired to make a statement.

"I am going to answer your questions," he began.
The crowd which up to that time had visions of Lawson being placed in the custody of an officer on contempt charges settled back with an obvious temporary loss of interest. Lawson insisted that he first be permitted to make a statement setting forth that it was against his wishes to give the names in public. Chairman Henry insisted however, that Lawson should answer the questions put to him and he said he would later be given an opportunity to make any statement he desired.

Insists on Making Statement.
Despite the decision of the chairman, Lawson insisted on making a statement and pleading for an opportunity to present his information in secret.

"May I not have just a word?" he asked in pleading tones.

"It will be short and to the point. It seems to me you owe it to me to allow me to state things which I think are absolutely necessary. I am going to answer your questions, if forced to, but I want to make one more appeal before I answer."

"I stated before that my reasons for refusing to give the information I had were the publication of names might lead to the destruction of evidence and also that a member of congress has convinced me that the matter was serious to the nation and the administration."

"But I did give one name to Speaker Clark, that of Charles H. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York. Mr. Sabin came before you and was allowed to go away without giving any information or showing his books. Mr. Sabin has left the country and his evidence is gone."

"I am willing to give all my answers in confidence. Then if the committee determines that I shall make them public, I will repeat them in public. I don't want to quibble and I don't want to refuse."

Held Whispered Conversation.
Here the committee held a brief whispered conversation and Chairman Henry announced that the witness should answer the questions publicly.

Lawson looked at the committee sternly, squared himself in his chair, and said in a voice scarcely audible: "Chairman Henry, of your committee is the congressman who gave me the names."

The room hummed with excitement. Members of the committee, who they had heard rumors that Lawson might connect Henry's name with his charges, shifted in their chairs. Lawson, silent and grave looked straight ahead at the chairman.

Mr. Henry without a sign of perturbation, waited a moment for the buzzing to subside, and then deliberately proceeded to read the next question formulated by the committee.

It was merely an elaboration of the first put in slightly different language, referring to the fact that Lawson made no difference whether the information came to him as "rumor or gossip" and brought a reiteration from Lawson, that Representative Henry had given him the information in Mr. Henry's office in the capitol on January 2nd.

Ask Name of Broker.
The third question called attention to Lawson's statement that he had been told by a broker that a New York banker, a cabinet officer and a senator had joint stock brokerage account and directed that he tell the committee the name of the man who had given him that information.

"The man who told me that was Archibald S. White, Boston, of the firm of White and Co."

Representative Harrison moved, and the committee approved that White be subpoenaed.

Replying to the next question as to whom he had referred in statements that members of congress had engaged in buying and selling stocks, Lawson said he could not give their names, as he did not know them.

It was in answering the next question that no other persons who had given him evidence in substantiation of his various statements that Lawson brought in the names of Secretary Tumulty and William M. Price white house correspondent of the Washington Star. He received a letter from a Washington woman, Mrs. Ruth Thomson Visconti saying in part:

Letter From Mrs. Visconti.
"My Dear Mr. Lawson:—If the name of the man who was the go-between in the present leak and the amount of money be of assistance to you I can supply the name and amount of money he received and give the name of at least one associate at the white house who participated in the haul."

"If you are interested I will make an appointment to meet you at such a place as you may designate."

The letter further requested that Lawson hold the information in the strictest confidence in case he did not proceed further in the matter.

Lawson then testified he made an appointment with Mrs. Visconti who came to his apartment with an attorney whose name he could not recall. After a long conference, he said, Mrs. Visconti told him that "Mr. Price had a part in the leak affair between Secretary Tumulty and others."

No reference was made either by Lawson or the committee to the amount of money referred to in Mrs. Visconti's letter.

Asked to whom he referred as the alleged senator, an alleged banker and an alleged member of the cabinet, Lawson said he understood Secretary McAdoo was the cabinet member, H. Pliny Fisk the banker and the senator whom he had heard referred as Senator "O."

Do Not Ask for Sources

This information Lawson said came to him from one source and was corroborated by another. He was not asked for the sources of the information. Chairman Henry proceeded to the next question.

The seventh question asking to whom Lawson referred by saying a member of congress had given him three names of persons reported to have been involved in the deal for the third time brought the reply: "Chairman Henry."

The next question and the two following were virtually the same.

Lawson then was asked if he had any other information in relation to his intimations that another "high official of the government regarding the leak" and that a relative of a cabinet officer also had been mentioned. He replied that the firm of C. D. Barney & Co., in Wall street; Malcolm McAdoo, a brother of Secretary McAdoo, and Stuart G. Gibboney of the firm of McAdoo & Gibboney, with offices at the Grand Central Station and at 165 Broadway, were the men to whom he referred. Speaking with emphasis he added that "the public man who knew of the leak machinery was Paul Warburg of the federal reserve board."

Suggests Two Witnesses

Suggestions by a committee member that there might be other persons who could give the committee information of value caused Lawson to say that John R. Rathom, managing editor of the Providence Journal and the editor of the Boston Transcript might be good witnesses. He held in his hand at the time a clipping from the Journal which he said referred to "white house leaks" and he thought Rathom might be some value to the committee.

At that point Chairman Henry took up a list of cabinet officers and asked Lawson if he had "connected" each of them with the leak. Coming to the name of Secretary Lansing, Lawson said he had not made a suggestion of him of the affair in connection with the names the congressman had given him as being parties to the "leak."

"Do you refer to Secretary Lansing in any connection?" Mr. Henry asked.

"Yes," Lawson replied.

Lawson Flares Up Furiously
Henry then accused Lawson of dragging the name of Lansing into the hearing and Lawson flared up furiously.

"I have held the names of Lansing and the German ambassador out of this," he said. "I have kept quiet when I have been charged with withholding information which I have not and I have been labeled in the press of the country as a result. One of your own members has said on the floor that it was a matter of dispute as to whether I should be in jail or in an insane asylum. I will not have this thrown on me."

Lawson then related in detail how he had come to Washington at the request of Chairman Henry and had called on him at his office; how Henry had told him he wanted his help to run down the leak charges. Lawson said he thanked Henry and urged that they talk freely and in confidence. Henry, he said, explained his position as chairman of the committee charged with looking into all information that might bear on the investigation. Congress wanted something tangible, he quoted Henry as saying, and added that the chairman asked him to give him any information that he had about any individuals involved.

"I told him that the only thing to be done was to get first hand information and to get it from other people," said Lawson. "I said that I would not give him hearsay information, that my principal reason was that I did not want to besmirch anyone unjustly but I declared that I could give him a formula for getting all the information thru a real investigation."

Believes Lansing Innocent.

"I asked him what the committee had heard. He said the committee already had heard that Secretary Lansing had gone to the Biltmore hotel in New York four times to meet Bernard Baruch. The chairman also said that he believed Secretary Lansing absolutely innocent of giving any confidential information and he asked me what I thought about it."

"I said, 'I will stake my head on it that Secretary Lansing did not do anything wrong.' I also said that I thought Secretary Lansing might have given information that was perfectly fair for any man to give."

"Chairman Henry also told me that there had come to the committee a report that the German ambassador had profitted over $2,000,000 but he said he did not think there was any truth in it."

Lawson further declared that Henry pleaded with him at the end of their second conference to cease urging an investigation of "leak" charges. It would be a serious thing to the country, Lawson quoted Henry as saying, to have an inquiry at this time. It might be possible however, Lawson said Henry pointed out, to inaugurate a wide inquiry into the stock market situation in the course of thirty days.

At that point Lawson reiterated his statement that he never told Henry nor had he told anyone that he had direct information regarding a "leak."

Henry Begins Statement.

In the midst of Lawson's remarks, Chairman Henry rose from his seat in the center of the committee table and started around toward the witness chair, telling Lawson that he would be excused temporarily. Representative Pou assumed the chairman's seat and Henry taking the stand, began a statement.

He first reviewed the introduction of the "leak" resolution by Representative Wood of Indiana; told of seeing Lawson's charges in the newspapers, that there was a leak, and gradually led up to Lawson's visit to Washington to confer with him.

Henry explained how he had begun a preliminary inquiry into the charges made by Lawson and the matters presented in Representative Wood's resolution. He first called Wood and he did not furnish a single name or date or fact.

Reviews Correspondence.
Then he reviewed the telegraphic correspondence with Lawson leading up to their conference.

"I told Lawson," Henry said, "that this was a very important and serious matter and that insofar as I was personally concerned I would impose no restriction of confidence, but that if he had any facts that he thought he should give in confidence I would respect his confidence. I asked him over and over again to name any man who might have knowledge of the subject. He did not name a single person and I did not name one."

"Here today, I declare that during our three hours' conversation I did not mention the name of any cabinet officer he has mentioned here today."

Later Henry made his statement even broader declaring he did not mention the name of any of the persons Lawson had declared he named.

"I say to you now," he declared with great emphasis, leaning over toward the committee, "that I never mentioned the name of a banker, a senator nor of a great official to him. I have no fear of my reputation in the house nor in the country and what this gentleman said here today doesn't disturb me."

Refers to Letter from Lawson.

Henry then referred to a letter Lawson had sent to him in January that an investigation of the stock exchange be held. Lawson said in the letter that he would like to have charge like "Sam Untermeyer did in the Pulo investigation." If he could not produce valuable evidence Lawson's letter continued, he would be willing to be "ignominiously fired."

"After that," Henry exclaimed, "he comes and tells this house and the country that he got his information from me."

Then turning to Lawson, Henry shouted:

"Mr. Lawson I could say more. I could take another course but I have had my statement and submit it to the house and to the country."

Lawson started to reply but was checked by Henry, who asserted that he did not wish to enter into any colloquy with him. The chairman then placed him before the committee and urged them to question him searchingly.

ENTENE NOTE BARS PEACE FOR PRESENT

which is in its nature, we shall say, insulting."

"Do you think that after an interval there will be any possibility of an offer of mediation for peace being accepted by both sides?" the minister was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

People Strongly Desire Peace.

"The desire for peace of all peoples—peoples, mind you, I say, not governments—is so strong that after the entente has had another try with a new offensive, after it has seen the fruitlessness of all the endeavors to crush the military strength of the central powers, there may be a better policy of negotiating a satisfactory and reasonable peace."

"Of course if the entente powers insist on trying to execute their program the war must be fought out to the bitter end. There is not a German who would not rather die than see the accomplishment of the announced intention of the entente powers with respect to Germany than see German provinces with predominant German populations torn from the German empire and united Germany, which our fathers so labored to achieve torn asunder and the country reduced as the allies have plainly announced as their ambition to a condition of subjection to rival great powers of Europe."

"The conditions for Austria-Hungary are even more difficult. Its remembrance to satisfy the passion for territorial aggrandizement of Russia, Italy, Serbia and Roumania would leave the state not even a third rate power; while who can say what would be the fate of the redeemed small nationalities when brought under the sway of Russia? Bulgaria, of course, would be bitterly punished, and Turkey would practically cease to exist if the plans contemplated in the entente's answer were attained."

Co-operative Banking System
Established Under Farm Loan Act

By Frank R. Wilson

Federal Farm Loan Bureau, Washington, D. C.

(Article Two)

Only farmers or prospective farmers who wish to borrow money may join the national farm loan associations provided under the Federal Farm Loan Act. It takes ten or more to make up one of these associations. If a farmer wishes to borrow, he should find out if such an association has been formed in his community. If it has, he should make application to the secretary-treasurer for membership. If no association has been formed, he should attempt to get ten or more farmers who wish to borrow, to meet for the purpose of organizing.

The process of organization is very simple. One of the members should write to the Federal Farm Loan Board, Washington, D. C., for blank articles of association. When they have been received, prospective borrowers should be called and these articles of association should be adopted, signed and acknowledged by each member. Each member will indicate the amount he wishes to borrow and the value and description of the land he wishes to use as security.

This association elects five or more directors, and these directors then elect a president, a vice president, a secretary and treasurer, and a loan committee of three members.

This is as far as the association can go until after the Federal farm loan bank of that district is established. Then, upon application, the Federal farm loan bank will furnish the local association with a blank application for charter, which should be filled out and filed with the Federal land bank, along with the articles of association.

These documents should be accompanied by a written, unanimous report of the loan committee placing a valuation on the lands of each of the members.

Then the appraiser of the Federal land bank will come to inspect the lands of the members and O. K. or reject the valuation prepared by the loan committee.

No one farmer may borrow more than $10,000 nor less than $100. No national farm loan association may start with less than $20,000 of loans.

Each member joining the local association must buy stock in the association equal to 5 per cent of the amount he borrows. If he borrows $1,000 he will get $950 in cash and a certificate of stock for $50. Or he may make his loan $1050 and thus have a net loan of $1,000, taking as long a time to repay the $50 invested in stock as on the thousand borrowed. This investment is for the purpose of providing the increasing capital of the Federal land bank, and the local association invests it in the land bank stock. The borrower will get his money back when he pays off his mortgage, and will get what dividends it earns while it is invested.

Now, what is the object of requiring the borrowers to thus group themselves into loan associations?

Primarily that the loan associations may eventually own the Federal land banks.

This is a cooperative banking system, and machinery must be provided for the government of the banks. Each of the local loan associations has a vote in the election of the directors in one of the Federal land banks. The loan committee, provided by the local association, is the agency for the valuation of the lands.

The Board of directors of the local association admits or rejects new members, according to their wishes. But most important of all, since this system is cooperative, the borrowers must provide the money for the increasing capital of the bank—and they do this by investing in the local associations.

Loans made under this system may not exceed 50 percent of the appraised value of the land used as security, and 20 percent of the appraised value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon.

Non-land owners may become members of an association by indicating in their application what land they expect to come into possession of and against which the mortgage will be placed.

Editor's note: Tomorrow's installment will have to do with the subject of amortization, a process provided for the gradual retirement of a mortgage under this system.

TUBERCULAR CASES AT THE HOSPITAL
Local League is Seeking for Special Arrangements Pending Facilities From Glacklin Fund

For some time the care of tubercular cases has been a matter of grave concern on the part of philanthropic individuals composing the anti-tuberculosis league and others. They have been considering various means of accomplishing their end with the funds available. The Glacklin fund will probably be available this year but not a very great sum and the county fund voted by the people cannot be had for some time yet to come.

Last evening a committee from the Anti-Tuberculosis League and from Passavant hospital met at the library to discuss ways and means. As the league has not sufficient funds to erect an independent building, all it can do will be to expend its money as far as it will go to institutions already organized, and to that end consultation has been had with the two hospitals of the city.

A communication was expected from the management of Our Savior's hospital but was not ready last evening. The people of the league and the hospitals discussed matters at considerable length. It is the desire of the league to secure for their patients just as far as practicable, the best and correct treatment, which means plenty of outdoor air and the best of diet, coupled with suitable care and attention. The Passavant hospital people reported that they were willing to do the very best in their power and wished from the league particulars of what would be desired and then if at all practicable they would take great pleasure in complying with the request to the very utmost of their ability.

It was deemed possible that limited quarters might be secured for men and for women separated which would combine to a reasonable degree the desired conditions of fresh air and sunshine and comfortable quarters. No definite action can be taken until more particulars are available.

AT LIBRARY CONFERENCE

W. D. Doying, of the Jacksonville public library board, was in Springfield Saturday attending a conference with the governor regarding library affairs in Illinois. In line with his policy of economy, Gov. Lowden is contemplating a consolidation of state educational agencies, but just how this will affect library matters is not yet clear.

sociation must buy stock in the association equal to 5 per cent of the amount he borrows. If he borrows $1,000 he will get $950 in cash and a certificate of stock for $50. Or he may make his loan $1050 and thus have a net loan of $1,000, taking as long a time to repay the $50 invested in stock as on the thousand borrowed. This investment is for the purpose of providing the increasing capital of the Federal land bank, and the local association invests it in the land bank stock. The borrower will get his money back when he pays off his mortgage, and will get what dividends it earns while it is invested.

Now, what is the object of requiring the borrowers to thus group themselves into loan associations?

Primarily that the loan associations may eventually own the Federal land banks.

This is a cooperative banking system, and machinery must be provided for the government of the banks. Each of the local loan associations has a vote in the election of the directors in one of the Federal land banks. The loan committee, provided by the local association, is the agency for the valuation of the lands.

The Board of directors of the local association admits or rejects new members, according to their wishes. But most important of all, since this system is cooperative, the borrowers must provide the money for the increasing capital of the bank—and they do this by investing in the local associations.

Loans made under this system may not exceed 50 percent of the appraised value of the land used as security, and 20 percent of the appraised value of the permanent, insured improvements thereon.

Non-land owners may become members of an association by indicating in their application what land they expect to come into possession of and against which the mortgage will be placed.

Editor's note: Tomorrow's installment will have to do with the subject of amortization, a process provided for the gradual retirement of a mortgage under this system.

MR. BLAIR GIVES PICTURE OF M. E. GEN. CONFERENCE
State Superintendent of Public Instruction Made Address At Grace Church Sunday.

At Grace M. E. church Sunday morning Hon. F. B. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, gave an address upon the theme, "My Impressions of the General Conference."

The speaker told of the impressions he had gained by attendance at the sessions of the general conference held at Saratoga, and said that he was much impressed by the character of the men composing the body. They were much more like a group of business men than he had expected, and were keenly alive to the affairs of the day. The work of the conference was largely done thru committees, among the most important of which was the one which considered the union of the two branches of Methodism. Bishop Earl Cranston was chairman of this committee and the sessions were marked by intense interest, the discussion on one occasion continuing until the early hours of the morning.

Mr. Blair told of the debate on the question of amendments and said that he felt that modern conditions of society called for a change in the discipline of the church relating to this subject.

Bishop Hendricks of the Methodist Church South was a visiting delegate and guest of the general conference, and Mr. Blair told of the profound impression created upon those in attendance at the conference when Bishop Hendricks and Bishop Cranston, senior bishop, clasped hands as the audience sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

The general conference is made up of eight hundred delegates, half of whom are ministers and the other half laymen. The speaker said that prior to attending the conference he had felt that the number of delegates was too large, but that he had entirely changed his views on the matter and that instead of decreasing the number he favored increasing the number so that a larger percentage of the ministers and laymen could attend.

RELATIVES MEET AFTER LONG SEPARATION

Alexander Smith and Brother Came Together Here by Chance—Separated as Children They Did Not Know Positively of One Another's Existence

Thirty six years ago in Terre Haute, Ind., George Edward Carney and his wife separated. They had two little boys, one a year old and one three years old. The younger was adopted by his mother's sister, Mrs. Alexander Smith of this city, and reared by her at her home as her own son. The other boy, three years old, was taken first by his father who went to live with his mother and sisters. Later the father married and the little boy lived with him until he was thirteen years old, when the boy was at the age of sixteen he struck out for himself, and learned the profession of electrical engineering. The father died some nine years ago and for some time the boy has been making his home with his aunt, Mrs. Sarah E. Rusk, 428 North Clark avenue, Austin station, Chicago.

During all these years the two boys have had a vague idea that each one had a brother, but they never had met nor did they know anything of each other. A few days ago Frank, the older one, told his aunt he was going to New Orleans and she suggested to him that he stop in Jacksonville, which he did, and going to the Dunlap house he sought the husband of his aunt and was very kindly received by Captain Smith with whom he had a long talk Sunday evening.

Imagine his pain yesterday morning on discovering that the man who had treated him so kindly had met such a sad death. He decided to remain until the funeral and last evening after the arrival of the train from St. Louis a young man stepped into the hotel and was greeted by Mr. Brewer as Alexander Smith. Then Mr. Brewer led him up and introduced him to the brother whom he had not met for thirty six years and of course of whom he had no recollection. The meeting between the brothers was indeed remarkable. They sat talking over the past and enjoyed such a time as could only be had by affectionate long lost brothers united.

PUBLIC FUNERAL WILL BE HELD FOR CAPT. SMITH

Friends Wire Plan to Dr. F. M. Rule Who Gave His Consent

Several long time friends of Capt. Smith yesterday joined in the suggestion that under all the circumstances that it would be a very proper thing to have a public funeral for Capt. Alexander Smith. A telegram was sent to Dr. Rule at Minneapolis to ask for an approval of the plan and at a late hour last night a message was received from him stating that he approved of the plan friends of the captain had suggested. Dr. Rule is to arrive in Jacksonville this afternoon at 2 o'clock and then definite steps will be taken toward the final arrangements.

Capt. Smith was a member of State Street church and it is considered probable that the service will be held there with a number of ministers and possibly others taking a part.

BELONGED TO FAMOUS SEVENTH

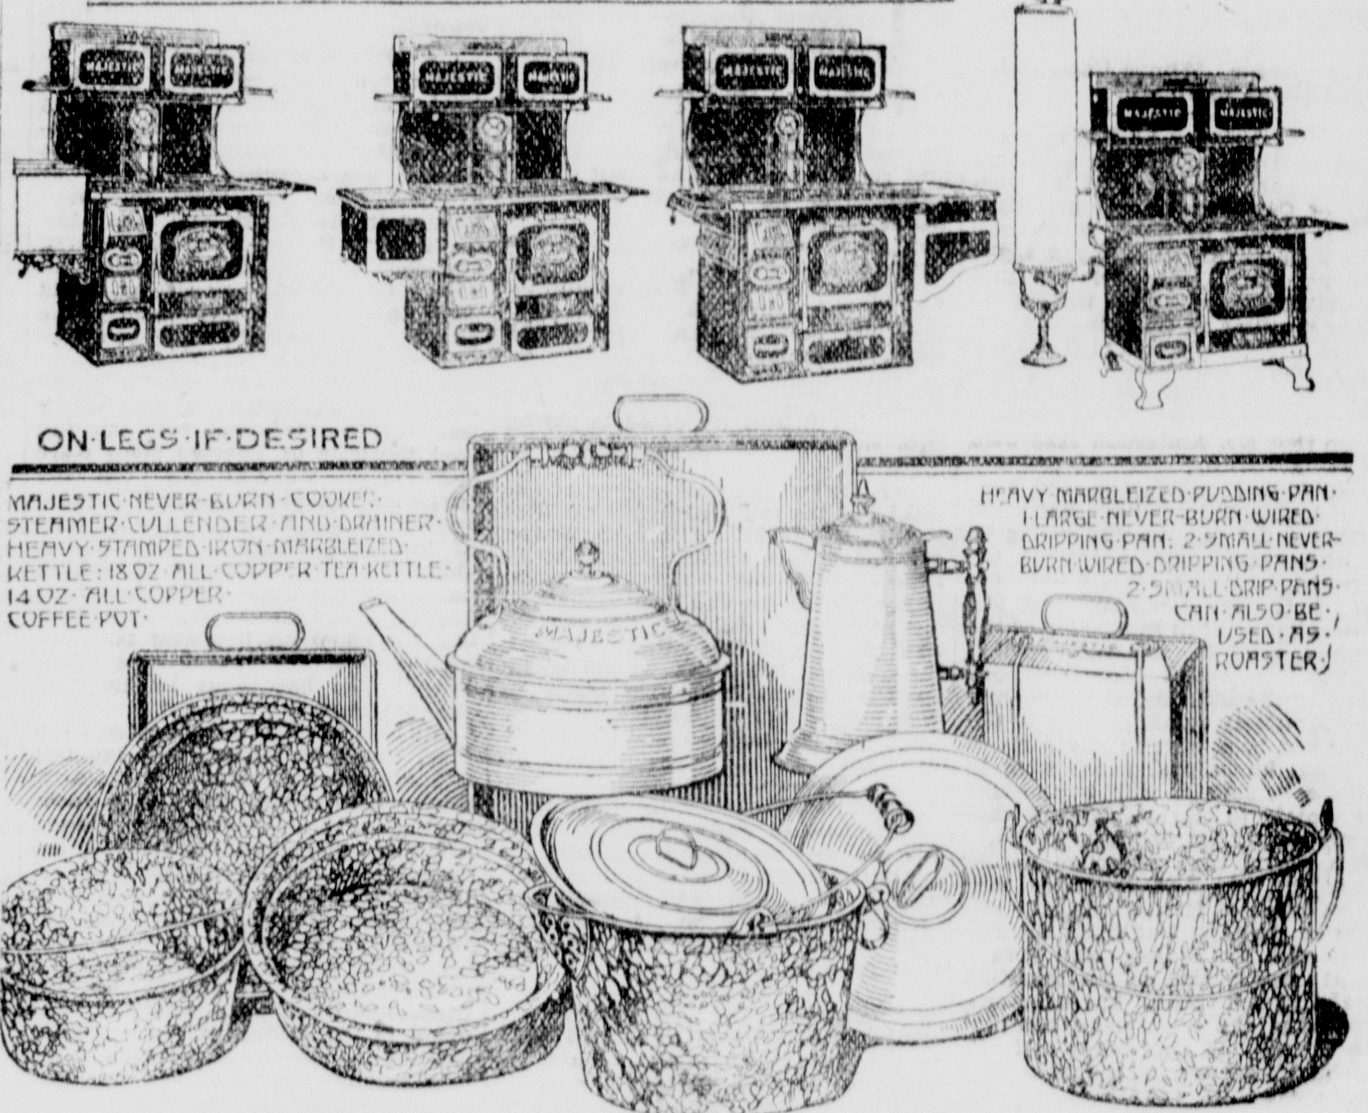

The late Benjamin F. Wyatt, father of Mrs. Charles K. Moore of this city, was a member of the famous 7th Regiment of Illinois Volunteers to which Capt. Alexander Smith belonged. Mr. Wyatt was buried in Springfield last summer with special military honors because of his notable career. In one of the famous battles of the war he saved the life of his commanding officer by carrying him, wounded as he was for two days and to a point where medical assistance could be secured.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

In accordance with a custom of several years standing, next Wednesday evening, the first Wednesday after the annual meeting, will be observed as a memorial service at Central Christian church. The memorial will take the place of the regular mid-week service.

Ira Howell of Beardstown was among the business callers in the city yesterday.

DECLARE SMITH FIRE NOT CAUSED FROM WIRES

G. E. Anderson and G. A. Sieber Give Opinions As Experts After Examining House Where Capt. Smith Was Burned to Death.

Yesterday because he had a report that defective wiring was supposed to have caused the fire at the residence of Capt. Smith, an investigation was started by Supt. E. H. Gray of the Jacksonville Railway & Light company. In all cases of this kind it is customary to have a written report in the files of the company and Mr. Gray, therefore, asked G. E. Anderson, who is the company's inspector, to visit the property and make a written report. Mr. Gray suggested also that Mr. Anderson take with him G. A. Sieber, an experienced electrician and contractor, and having no connection with the company. Mr. Sieber did not do the wiring in this house and could, therefore, examine the work in a wholly unbiased way. Both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Sieber, after a thorough inspection of the premises, gave it as their opinion that the fire could not have been caused by the crossing of wires. Only a comparatively small portion of the wiring had been burned and parts of the loom, knobs and tubes were in evidence in such a way as to show very clearly to the electricians that the wires had been properly placed.

The report that defective wiring caused the fire had indicated that the condition of the switch gave evidence of the fact, but both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Sieber, who gave a special investigation of the condition of the switch and surroundings, found that the insulation had not been burned off the wires and the loom which surrounds the wires was still in excellent condition and not even smoked. Mr. Sieber said in conversation last night that he was familiar with the statement made by Mr. Anderson and that this statement summed up in a very clear way conditions as he found them.

The report filed by Mr. Anderson was in language as follows: Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 15, 1917. Mr. E. H. Gray, Supt. Jacksonville Ry. & Lt. Co.

Dear Sir: At your suggestion I got Mr. G. A. Sieber, electrical contractor, to go with me to investigate the report that the fire at Capt. Alex. Smith's, 335 W. State St., was caused by defective wiring. We investigated the premises from attic to cellar and all the wiring we could see was put in properly and safely, had knobs, tubes and loom wherever necessary. The wiring that was burned was also put in properly because there was parts of the loom, knobs and tubes still on the wires, the joints were properly made because they are still soldered together. The switch in question which they thought caused the fire was not even burned, the insulation on the wires and the loom was still in good condition with in a foot of the ceiling. Everything indicates that something else besides defective wiring caused the fire.

G. E. Anderson.

CAPT. SMITH'S CHARRED REMAINS ARE FOUND IN HIS OWN HOME

LONG TIME CITIZEN, FAMOUS IN WAR, BURNED TO DEATH MONDAY MORNING

Fire Discovered at Early Hour By Sister Who was Member of the Household—Exact Details About Death Will Never Be Known—Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict—Funeral Plans are Not Complete.

A great sorrow came to many people in Jacksonville Monday morning when the news was spread abroad that Capt. Alexander Smith had been burned to death at his West State street home adjoining the Dunlap hotel. Altho in feeble health for several years, Capt. Smith had during recent months seemed somewhat improved and the news of his very sad death came as a great shock. His charred remains were found in an upstairs room of his residence some time after his sister, Mrs. F. M. Rule, had been awakened by the smoke which poured into her bed room. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by burning and suffocation but the exact facts of the tragedy will never be known as there is no one with knowledge of the details.

The house is two stories and the upper part is divided in two by a hall running north and south thru it. On the west side are two rooms in the north one of which Capt. Smith slept and in the other kept various articles. A door connects the two rooms. On the opposite or east side of the hall Mrs. Rule, Captain Smith's sister, and her little granddaughter, Sarah Lee Rule, ten years old, sleep. As the captain has been for some time in delicate health both he and Mrs. Rule left their doors open that any sound might be heard by either in case of trouble.

Fire Discovered at 4 A. M.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Rule was awakened by smoke in her room and on arising and investigating she found fire in the house. She hastened to arouse her granddaughter who went down and turned in the alarm and then Mrs. Rule went to the Captain's room, searched as well as she could all about the bed and room but could find no trace of him. The smoke of the fire which seemed to be under the room was so dense she had to get out. When she started down stairs the baseboard of the upper part of the stairway was burning and the ends of several steps were well nigh burned off. The fire came up inside the partition and spread mainly about the west part of the house where the captain was sleeping. She observed it coming out about the door casing and base boards of the rooms but investigating she found no fire near the floor of the lower story and none whatsoever in the basement kitchen and furnace room.

As soon as the department arrived Mrs. Rule told Chief Hunt she felt the captain was certainly upstairs. Capt. Roach of the night police force and Fireman John Taylor searched all about the room occupied by the captain but could find no trace of him. Then they took a ladder to the south window of the room adjoining, broke their way in and looked all about that room and found nothing. It should be remembered that this searching was done in the midst of dense smoke and as thoroughly as possible.

Some one reported that the captain was over at the hotel which seemed to be the case and the energies of the men were bent toward putting out the fire. The chemical found to be inadequate and the engine steam was turned on and the flames were soon subdued. The house was not greatly damaged by the fire but the contents were pretty thoroughly ruined by water.

Charred Body Found

After the fire had been put under control Chief Hunt told James Hurst to search the rooms for valuables and put them in safe keeping. The man went upstairs and soon came running down stating that the bones of Captain Smith had been found. It seems the unfortunate man was roused by the fire which must have been evident to him some time before it was disclosed to his sister. He must have been confused and instead of getting out he groped his way into the room south of his own and by some means stumbled and staggered into the corner where he was found behind a door. He was found with his head against the wall and right over the worst part of the fire which had burned through the floor, burned a part of his body and rendered him almost unrecognizable.

Chief Hunt at once took a tarpaulin from the hook and ladder wagon and wrapped the body in it and had it removed to the undertaking parlors of John Reynolds. Coroner Rose summoned a jury consisting of Dr. W. W. Crane, foreman; C. E. McDougall, J. R. Kirkman, John E. Wright, A. P. Vascotto and John Minter, clerk. S. W. Nichols was also assisting in taking down the testimony. All were veterans of the war but Dr. Crane.

The evidence of Fireman Hurst, Mrs. Rule and Chief Samuel Hunt was heard and the verdict was that death was caused by suffocation and burning.

Inquest Begins

It is understood that the loss of the house is covered by insurance. The house formerly stood on Jordan street and was built by Hon. Thomas Springer for his daughter, Mrs. Kinnman, but was sold later and removed to the place it now occupies. It was well built and in good condition.

Naturally the first question is, how did the fire originate?

In the testimony given Chief Hunt, the firemen and Mrs. Rule felt sure it was caused by the electric wires as the fire was almost wholly inside the partition under the stairs at the start and no fire at all was visible in any other part of the house. Mrs. Rule said they had no matches about the place. The kitchen was untouched by fire and the heating plant had not yet been fired and there was at the start no fire below the button in the hall which turns on the electricity in the house. About this Chief Hunt testified, a large hole more than a foot in diameter, was burned.

On the other hand, S. E. Anderson, inspector for the Jacksonville Railway & Light Company and G. A. Sieber, electrical contractor, are certain the fire did not originate there and in proof of it say they had the wires about the button examined and found them intact which could not be if the fire started there.

Relatives Notified

When Mrs. Smith died, two and a half years ago, the captain's sister, Mrs. Rule, and her husband, Rev. F. M. Rule, came to live with and take care of the captain. Dr. Rule has been absent for some time in Minnesota aiding in financial work for a college and later at Tracy earning for his son who was at the point of death with pneumonia, but who is improving. He was wired and answered that he would be here today. The adopted son, Alex. Smith, Jr., residing in St. Louis, arrived last evening. Mrs. Rule bore the terrible ordeal as well as could be expected though she was dreadfully prostrated and the grief of Major Vickery, who had for almost half a century been associated with Capt. Smith, is pathetic.

Major E. S. Johnson, a member of Captain Smith's regiment, also came down from Springfield yesterday to tender his sympathy and services as far as they might be of use.

Born in Ohio

Captain Smith was born in Eaton, Ohio, June 27, 1844, and was the son of Alexander and Elizabeth Ritchie Smith. The father was born in Virginia and the mother in Vermont. The father died in Iowa in 1877. When yet a boy Captain Smith began to learn the saddler's trade at Atlanta, Ill., but at the beginning of the war he at once heard the call of his country and April 1, 1861, enlisted, when but sixteen years of age. He laid the claim to being the first man in the state to enlist and the first one to reach Camp Butler to be mustered in. He enlisted in Co. E, 7th Ill. Volunteers, and April 29th was promoted to the rank of corporal. At the expiration of his three months service in the 7th, he re-enlisted and July 25, 1861 was promoted to the office of first lieutenant, and Nov. 12, 1862 was made captain at Corinth, Miss., when but eighteen years and three months old.

Great War Record

On the wall in his room is a frame, containing the record of his various positions and it was ever much prized by him. He served till mustered out at Louisville, Ky., July 9, 1865, and was finally discharged at Springfield July 13, 1865. He participated in fifteen sanguinary battles, was in the famous march to the sea, Carolina campaign, surrender of Johnston's army, and the famous review at Washington.

He never wearied of telling about the battle at Altona pass which was bloody. In this engagement there were 1200 Union men against 6000 Confederates. Captain Smith took into that battle a company of 51 men and lost 41. They were armed with Henry rifles and did tremendous execution, and it is said that but for this very equipment the battle result might have been different. The regimental flag was shot through 217 times but not surrendered. Although he was engaged in so many battles he was not at any time captured by the enemy, and was not wounded or sick. At the close of the war he moved to Mattoon where he was clerk of the Essex House from 1866 to '69, when he came to Jacksonville and entered the employ of the Kelseys, then managers of the Dunlap, Park and Wabash station hotels. Later, when the Kelseys went away he was employed by Charles and Walter Dunlap, managers of the Dunlap House and shortly after that he took charge of the Park House as manager and built up a large business there.

Bought Hotel Property

Finally he gained control of the Dunlap House and later on bought that and the Park Hotel property and owned other real estate also. In January, 1904, he felt he had done enough in the way of hotel keeping and leased his property to others and has since been on the retired list.

April 7, 1875 Captain Smith was married to Miss Josephine Marie Litzelman of Terra Haute, Indiana, and she was the daughter of Mathis Litzelman of Abatdon descent. They took to their hearts and home an adopted son, a nephew of Mrs. Smith and named him Alexander Jr., and he was ever as their own flesh and blood. He is now located in St. Louis and arrived in the city last evening. Mrs. Smith died two and a half years ago. Captain Smith also leaves a sister, Mrs. F. M. Rule, of this city.

Captain Smith was a member of State Street church and as far as able, attended its services. He was also a charter member of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, Matt Star Post No. 378, Grand Army of the Republic, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Order of Elks, and a charter member of Jacksonville Lodge No. 152, Knights of Pythias, and only recently he visited the lodge and made an address.

A Loss to the Community

Captain Smith was a genial, whole-souled gentleman, kind hearted and liberal and did much good in a quiet manner. He was popular far and wide and no landlord ever was more esteemed by his many guests. For some time he has been in failing health, yet he bade fair to remain a long time with his loved ones. The evening before his tragic end he had a pleasant conversation with Major Vickery and later with the brother of his adopted son, with whom he conversed a long time. As he returned to his house Mrs. Rule helped him up the steps and then went down to lock the front door, little thinking it would be opened under such circumstances. Truly a good and popular man has gone and his loss will be deeply felt.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

INSURANCE RATES ARE AGAIN IN QUESTION

Inspection Bureau Asks If Suggested Betterments Have Been Made—Informal Reports From Departments.

Once more the city is in danger of having insurance rates materially increased because certain improvements in fire protection in this city have not been made. A letter showing this condition was read at the meeting of the city council Monday morning from the Illinois inspection bureau. It was in 1915 that a survey of fire fighting facilities here was made for the bureau and certain recommendations were made. The letter read indicates that if it cannot be shown that the suggested changes have been made that it will be necessary for re-survey to be made and rates raised according to existing conditions. This letter and the discussion resulting was the most important matter which came before the council at the session.

No Money for Back Indebtedness
Mayor Rodgers made a brief report of a session of the legislative committee of the Illinois Municipal League in Chicago and said that the league is preparing some suggestive legislation which will be of advantage to all cities in the matter of increasing revenues. Mr. Widmeyer for the department of finance said that the city's financial affairs are moving along just as usual but that it is not possible now to take care of any back indebtedness. All moneys received are necessary for the expenses of the city which are increasing just like those of individual citizens and the money being spent is for the purpose of keeping up repairs and not allowing city property to get in any worse condition. He said that the expense of the fire department has increased quite materially because of the present high prices of feed.

Mr. Martin, for the department of public health and safety, referred to the fire inspection bureau letter and said a careful estimate indicated that motorization of the Jacksonville fire department would save at least $2,000 a year. Mr. Martin said he had been making some investigation as to the methods of garbage disposal used in Springfield and other cities and had various matters relating to the question which he would discuss with the council members at some other time.

Mr. Cox reported some work done on the Hardin avenue sewer and the case of Mr. Ferreira, a resident of Hooker street, who has a sewer assessment for twice the frontage of his property. It was explained by the engineer that some error had been made in spreading the assessment in that Mr. Ferreira has been credited with owning a full lot whereas he owned one half. The proper steps will be taken to prevent a judgment being entered against the property thru error.

Must Not Tamper With Hydrants

Mr. Vasconcellos mentioned the difficulty that was being met in a number of cases preventing citizens from opening hydrants and taking water. This is particularly true at some places in the first ward, where it is alleged the wells have gone dry because of the city pumping station. Mr. Vasconcellos said that some citizens who have been using the hydrants have been notified that the water department will send a man to open the hydrant if they are advised in advance. The objection to having a private individual open hydrants is that they do not understand the mechanism and if a hydrant is left without being properly drained it is very likely to freeze up and cause quite a large loss to the city. Mr. Vasconcellos said the city ordinance provide very clearly for the punishment of offenders and said he would have an extract from the law published in both city papers and that any infringement will be prosecuted.

Some other matters were given informal consideration before the council adjourned. The letter from the Illinois inspection bureau referred to above was in language as follows:

Inspection Bureau Letter
"We would like to refer to our letter of May 28th in reference to the condition of your city's fire fighting facilities, to which you made reply under date of June 4th, 1915.

"As stated in our letter, the report of our engineer indicates that the developments of the fire fighting facilities have not kept pace with the growth of your city and, therefore, the classification under

DON'T HURT A BIT!

Lift your old, torturous corns and calluses right off with the fingers.

This tiny bottle holds the wonder of wonders. It contains an almost magical drug discovered by a Cincinnati man. It is called Freezone. It is a compound made from ether.

Apply a few drops of this freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you just lift it off with the fingers.

You feel no pain or soreness when applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin.

Just ask in any drug store for a small bottle of Freezone. This will cost but a few cents but will positively rid your foot, suffering feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between toes, or the tough calluses on bottom of feet. Genuine Freezone has a yellow label. Look for yellow label.—Adv.

which Jacksonville is listed at the present time is one grade better than your city is entitled to.

"We would very much like to see improvements made as outlined in this report so that the grade of third class might be retained. It will soon be necessary for us to resurvey your city for the purpose of publishing new estimate book and if we are to base our estimate on the existing conditions, they will, of course, be considerably higher than those published at the present time.

"We would like to co-operate with you by holding up the survey for a short time if improvements in the fire fighting facilities are to be made, but cannot delay the matter whether or not any improvements have been made since our engineer's report and also whether or not any improvements are liable to be made in the near future.

"Yours very truly,

"Frank H. Jones, Publisher."

STATE FARMERS INSTITUTE WILL MEET IN STREATOR

Program Prepared is Said to be One of Best in History of Institute—Prominent Speakers Secured.

The twenty-second Annual Meeting of the Illinois Farmers' Institute and its Department of Household Science will be held in Streator, Illinois, February 21, 22, and 23. One of the best programs which could be made, touching all classes of citizens, will be presented and the people who will receive the information given by experts of state and national reputation are the ones who will attend and have a voice in the discussions. The banker, manufacturer, farmer, teacher, student and home-maker will meet and discuss subjects of vital interest, then carry the information back to every part of this great State. This will do much toward making a greater Illinois.

The real worth to be derived from this meeting cannot be estimated and it is well worth while for the people of the state to make a special effort to attend. The State Institute is a school of instruction where practical experience of the foremost experts on many subjects will be given.

A Few of the Speakers

Prof. Geo. Roberts, head of the department of Agronomy of the University of Kentucky, stands emphatically for the adoption and development of systems of permanent prosperous agriculture. In his address he will tell how to treat worn-out soils in order to make them productive and profitable.

Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, our own soil specialist of the College of Agriculture, Urbana, will be present with a message full of instruction for both the experienced farmer and the student. He points to that agriculture which may be permanently maintained and sets forth the right methods of farming, with which no agricultural country can hope to remain prosperous.

The Dairy Cow and Her Place

Prof. A. J. Glover, associate editor of "Hoard's Dairyman," Fort Atkinson, Wis., in speaking of "The Dairy Cow and Her Place on the Farm," will bring his hearers to a realization that the cow may not only be one of the greatest money makers on the farm, but a producer of the best food for the family.

Prof. Glover will give a larger vision of how the dairy cow will help the people of Illinois to a better living.

The Department of Household Science will also have an address, by a woman, on "Dairying for Dollars."

Better Live Stock

One session will be given over to the discussion of available wastes in the production of Live Stock and Mr. B. E. Carmichael of Wooster, Ohio, head of the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture, will be a prominent speaker.

"Feeds and Their Value to Horticulture and the Use of Honey in the Diet," will be a subject of special interest presented by C. P. Dadant, editor of the "American Bee Journal."

Banker-farmer relations, manufacturer and farmer, good roads, their importance to the farmer are other subjects to be handled by experienced speakers making a study of the problems confronting the business man and the farmer.

Our communities are known by the standard of their average homes and the life of the people, and such subjects as "Rebuilding Rural America," "Recreation in the Rural Community" and "Community Music," will be of great interest to the men and women who are making better homes in Illinois and who are interested in a better future citizenship for Illinois.

If You Suffer From Catarrh

don't make the fatal mistake of regarding it as a trifling matter. Authorities agree that Catarrh is an infection of the blood. Consequently, sprays, salves and lotions can afford only temporary relief, because they do not reach the source of the disease—the blood. When you depend on these temporary remedies alone your case is likely to grow steadily worse until it becomes chronic and possibly affects the lungs.

But even if the infection does not go this far, the continuous dripping of mucus in the throat, the constant spitting and hawking and evil odor of the breath will not only cause misery to you, but will make your presence obnoxious to others. S. S. S., which has been the standard blood medicine for fifty years, will relieve your catarrh, because it will purify your blood and relieve it of the accumulated poisons. S. S. S. contains no mineral or habit-forming drugs. S. S. S. is on sale at all druggists and the advice of our medical department is at your disposal, free of charge. BASEBALL PLAYERS SEEK LABOR CHARTER

FEDERATION OF LABOR TO CON-SIDER APPLICATION SATURDAY.

Gompers and Fultz Confer Regarding Proposed Action of Players in Refusing to Sign Contracts—Gompers in Sympathy With Requests.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The Baseball Players' Fraternity has applied to the American Federation of Labor for a charter. The application will be considered at the next meeting of the executive council of the federation on Saturday.

Gompers and Fultz Confer.
New York, Jan. 15.—A new phase of threatened strike of the baseball players' fraternity developed here late today when it was learned that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and President David L. Fultz, of the players' organization had been in conference relative to the proposed action of the fraternity members in refusing to sign 1917 baseball contracts until such time as the minor league managers should grant the requests made by the players.

Gompers was located at local hotel just as he was leaving for Washington. Upon being questioned he admitted that he had been in conference with Fultz several times within the past few weeks and that the latest conversation occurred today.
When asked if the fraternity was a member of the labor federation he replied:

"Not yet, but soon I expect it," he continued, "with the officers of the baseball players' Fraternity for some little time and while the players organization is not affiliated with us as yet, I am in full sympathy with their requests and actions, they have my moral support. I am deeply interested in the welfare of the ball players and they will have my support in any action that they may see fit to take in order to better existing conditions. This is all that I care to say at this time."

President B. B. Johnson of the American League arrived today from Chicago. He said he had come to the city to attend the meeting of the schedule committees and expected to remain for several days. The American League executive, said he did not care to talk about players' proposed strike, but that if it eventuated, the American League had enough players under contract to start the season and that others would be secured to fill any vacancies that might exist.

"I do not think," he said "that the players of the major leagues will carry their contentions so far as to strike, but if they do we will be prepared to meet the emergency and will go right on playing baseball as usual.

Players Favor Action.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—The action of David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity in applying to the American Federation of Labor for a charter, met with the favor of the dozen or more members of the fraternity residing in and near Chicago.

"It's a good thing, and I hope the application is granted," said James Archer, a member of the Chicago National League Club tonight. "The protection of organized labor would be of great service to ball players.
That's what we need."

Archer said that he was in full sympathy with the fraternity and would walkout if Fultz called a strike.

There is to be a meeting here tomorrow night of the fraternity members to hear what President Fultz has to say in regard to his threat to call a strike. The meeting was called by Al Demaree, a member of the Philadelphia Nationals at Fultz' request. He expects between twenty and thirty players to attend.

Demaree said he did not believe there would be a strike because he believes the club owners and players will get together before the trouble has gone too far."

ODD MISTAKES

(By School Boy)

Two odd school directors met and became reminiscent about "school matters." A said to B: "Such queer mistakes some people make in pronouncing words. Not only that, but what is worse, they will say that we farmers drag our roads, when we have just dragged them." "Yes," said B, "and some folks persist in putting molasses, cheese and coal in the mineral water." This is an epoch of prodigious errors, and we ought to be more vigilant, how we pronounce such words as viggle, fraygel, seapulechre, goddy, attaekted, strenuous, tarjit and other little words."

Young America, who had been listening in, could not hold himself anymore, and ran away to tell his little girl friend the funny things his father and her father were saying.
Oh, for the old blue-back spelling matches we used to have!

"CASCARETS" BEST IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS SICK, CONSTIPATED

Best for Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach

Get a 10-cent box.
Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, complexion rosy and your liver and bowels regular for months.—Adv.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

At her wedding in May, 1910, Mrs. Peter Goellet Gerry, wife of Senator-elect Gerry of Rhode Island, was pronounced by President Taft, "the most beautiful bride he had ever seen." The genial president spoke with evident sincerity and adds the chronicle of the event, "nobody was surprised." Among other notable enthusiasts over Mrs. Gerry's remarkable beauty was John Singer Sargent, the famous painter, who painted a portrait of her ten years ago, when she was Miss Mathilde Townsend and rated the most beautiful girl in Washington. Mrs. Gerry still conserves the girlish grace and sweetest smile which then delighted the artist, in spite of her nearly seven years of matron dignity.

Miss Madeleine Zabriskie Doty, whose work as an investigator of economic conditions in belligerent countries, conducted recently in behalf of several well known publications, has been notable, is a graduate of the Law School of New York University, who practiced law for some years in the metropolis but who has now turned her activities almost exclusively to sociological and literary pursuits. She was one of the first women to be made receivers in bankruptcies. In 1911 she left the general practice of law to take up the Children's Court exhibit in the New York City Child Welfare Exhibit. Since then she has studied Children's Courts all over the United States. She has also investigated prison conditions for women and has herself committed to prison the better to study these conditions.

Minnie Ashley Chanler, wife of William Astor Chanler who has led in the movement of Americans in the movement of the Chateau de Chavannes-Lafayette, which will become the property of the French Heroes' Fund has co-operated effectively with other American women, during the war, in binding the two republics together by acts of generosity toward French soldiers and civilians. The plan which she contemplates for the use of the chateau, after peace comes, is to make it serve for the memory of the Marquis de Lafayette, as Mount Vernon on the Potomac has served for that of Washington, with the added purpose of a home for disabled soldiers and soldiers' orphans. The wealth which Mrs. Chanler and her husband have at their disposal for their good works comes in large degree from Astor ancestors, and is derived from New York real estate.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Boston, recently appointed by the National American Woman Suffrage association chairman of the "Front Door Lobby" at Washington, or section on legislation, is a graduate of Radcliffe, well known as a philanthropist and lecturer, and personally a woman of unusual beauty, refinement and charm. She is forceful and convincing as a speaker, while her feminine grace and personality always make an immediate appeal to her audiences. She has for a dozen years been one of the foremost leaders of the suffrage movement in Massachusetts, and has lectured in all parts of the country in its behalf. The section of which she assumes chairmanship has for its special work the influencing of congressmen toward passing the federal amendment on woman suffrage.

Mrs. Frances C. Axtell of Bellingham, Wash., former member of the Washington legislature and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for congress in the last election, who has been appointed a member of the workmen's compensation commission to administer the Federal employees' liability law, has already served on the commission to establish a minimum wage for women in Washington cities and has been a keen student of wage economics. She is a native of Illinois, a graduate of De Pauw University and has been actively interested in social and industrial reforms, universal suffrage and prohibition. The position offered Mrs. Axtell carries a salary of $4,000 a year, and the work the members of the commission are called to do is to administer government compensation to workers injured while engaged in interstate commerce.

Miss May Sutcliffe, 18 years old and a Berkeley, Cal., high school girl has been occupying her spare moments making a pair of pink silk pajamas for King George of England. Miss Sutcliffe has been at work for months on the pajamas, for whose adornment she has knit twelve yards of tating.

TO WORK FOR BETTER BIRTH REGISTRATION

State Board of Health and Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs To Link Forces.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 15.—The state board of health and the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs are to link their forces to secure better birth registration in Illinois, according to an announcement today by Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, secretary of the board.

Out of the 155,000 births each year in Illinois, more than 30,000 are unrecorded, Dr. Drake said. This greatly decreases efficiency of child labor laws.

The federation of women's clubs has asked to co-operate by investigating birth registration in the counties of the state and urging local officials to enforce the law requiring registration.

To encourage birth recording, the board will give a beautifully embossed birth certificate signed by the governor to each child whose birth is recorded.

The United States government will be asked to grant Illinois the franking privilege for sending birth recording and health literature thru the mails free.

A resolution asking this has been prepared by Dr. Drake for introduction in the legislature.

DANIELS CARRIES PROBLEM TO COMMITTEE

Gives Details of Negotiations With Private Builders for Construction of Four Battle Cruisers.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Secretary Daniels carried to the house naval committee today the problem of getting under construction the four battle cruisers already authorized for the navy. Details as to negotiations with private ship builders were laid before the committee with the definite statement that the ships could not be built in private plants for less than $18,500,000 each, or $2,000,000 more than the fixed limit of cost. A preliminary estimate for navy yard construction submitted by assistant Secretary Roosevelt was $17,500,000, but Secretary Daniels said that a formal estimate would be furnished later.

Paymaster George P. Auld who examined the books of the Fore River, Newport News and Cramp Shipbuilding companies told the committee that in preparing to take contracts on the basis of cost and a percentage of profit the companies estimated material for each vessel at $10,000,000; labor at $4,000,000 and overhead expenses at $2,500,000 taking up the entire $16,500,000 limit of cost, to which profit and extra expenses would be added.

Paymaster Auld pointed out that the cost of material a year or two ago would have been about $6,000,000 and argued that in fixing their profit the builders had figured on collecting a percentage on the $4,000,000 inflation.

The navy will continue to present its case tomorrow and on Wednesday the shipbuilders will be heard.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

Few people realize that over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually in making Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these herbs all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their medicinal properties are at their best.

The watchword in preparing these herbs is cleanliness, the process of percolation is perfect. All utensils and tanks are sterilized and the medicine is pasteurized, clarified and filtered before it is bottled for the consumer.

It is this wonderful combination of herbs, together with the skill and care used in the preparation, which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.—Adv.

Corns Peel Right Off With "Gets-It"

2 Drops, and the Corn is a "Goner!"

When you've got to walk on the sides of your shoe to get away from those awful corn-pains, there's only one common-sense thing to do.

Use "Gets-It!" Your Corns Won't Swell in Water. Besides, They'll Shrink, Loosen and Peel Off!

Put 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It!" on the corn right away. Pain and inflammation will disappear, the corn will begin to peel off from that instant—then it loosens and falls right off. There's no other corn-remover in the world that acts like "Gets-It!" No new discovery has been made in corn-removers since "Gets-It!" was born. Don't forget that fact "Gets-It!" does away forever with the use of knives that irritate, bandages that make a bundle of your toes, plasters that half do the work, knives and scissors that draw blood. Use "Gets-It!"—no more digging or cutting. "Gets-It!" is sold everywhere, 35c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.
